TREE LIMB CRASHES "STROH A PARTY" — This accident which occurred Monday evening in Bloomingburg brought a crowd of beer lovers out of their homes, in hopes of a discount on damaged merchandise. The driver of the truck misjudged the height of his vehicle and hit a tree limb. He was injured in the mishap, but was treated and released at the hospital. The beer lovers returned disappointed to their homes after the damage was cleaned up as no sales were made.

Chicago family found slain

PARK RIDGE, Ill. (AP) — Authorities are trying to piece together the final hours of a family neighbors described as close-knit, quiet and unassuming before death entered a neat suburban home.

Raymond A. Fuchs, 49, a purchasing agent for a small electronics manufacturer; his wife Ruth, 48; their daughter, Linda, 14, and son Scott, 16, were found slain Monday in the basement of their brick ranch-style house in this well-to-do suburb northwest of Chicago.

A fifth, badly burned body found in the kitchen of the home by firemen called to extinguish a blaze matched the description of the family's eldest son, Jeffrey, 18, but remained unidentified.

Firemen said they had not determined the cause of the fire, but a fire official said it may it may have been started to cover up the slayings.

"It could be the body in the kitchen is also the person who started the fire," said Anthony Sciaraffa, deputy coroner of Cook County. "We definitely have a homicide in regard to the persons in the basement."

Fire Chief Norman Brown said the blaze apparently started in the basement, where gas and oil cans also were found, he said.

Nevertheless, Sciaraffa said none of the bodies found in the basement appeared to have been burned.

The body of Mrs. Fuchs was found with her hands bound to a wash tub, said Sciaraffa. Linda's body lay next to her mother's.

Defense chief against aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger apparently has some reservations about the new U.S. agreement to help Egypt build nuclear power plants.

Asked at a Monday news conference whether he would have recommended such aid to Egypt, Schlesinger said, "I think that I would have pointed out the advantages or the disadvantages of such a course of action."

Some Pentagon officials agreed with a reporter's impression that the defense secretary probably leans more against the idea than toward it. "I think he would have put the cons before the pros," one official said.

Schlesinger said, "We must accept the fact that normalization will imply that the various kinds of agreements into which the United States has regularly entered with a large number of governments ... would likely be available" to Egypt or Israel.

Although he included Israel in this, it appeared Schlesinger had Egypt chiefly in mind because he referred to "normalization" of relations. The United States has recently restored normal diplomatic relations with Egypt after a seven-year break. U.S. relations with Israel never have been ruptured.

Critics in Congress questioned whether President Nixon's promise to supply nuclear materials and advice to Egypt for peaceful purposes might open the way to Egypt's developing nuclear weapons. No such criticism has been voiced against the similar U.S. commitment to Israel, which already has two nuclear reactors. Some experts believe the Israelis could build atomic weapons now, if they wished.

The mother suffered a wound near the head and the daughter received two wounds on either side of the head. Sciaraffa did not describe the wounds.

A bloodied kitchen knife which could have been used as a weapon was found nearby, Sciaraffa said.

Scott's body was found in another part of the basement. His hands were tied behind his back with a rope running around his neck, Sciaraffa said. Fuchs was found near his younger son. He was not bound. Neither showed any wounds, Sciaraffa said.

All the bodies were wrapped in bedding or blankets, Sciaraffa said.

Cause of the deaths was under investigation.

Improvement projects at hospital approved

The Fayette Memorial Hospital board of trustees met Monday night and discussed a number of hospital improvement projects. Robert L. Kunz, hospital administrator, was authorized to pursue four of the proposed programs.

Kunz was authorized to proceed with plans to recruit physicians to staff the hospital emergency room 24 hours each day. More than 1,000 emergency cases were handled in the emergency room during May and the trustees feel there is an urgent need to have a full-time staff for the emergency facilities.

The board asked Kunz to arrange meetings with architects to further discuss the possibility for expanding the present hospital facilities. The proposed expansion would include more beds, laboratories and therapy rooms.

The hospital administrator was authorized to let bids for a new emergency generator and for new boilers. The boilers presently being used at the hospital are 24 years old.

THE BOARD received notification from a Youngstown attorney that the will of Freda Green bequests $1,000 to Fayette Memorial Hospital.

Statistics for the hospital during the month of May were reviewed. The report showed there were 373 admissions with a total of 2,237 patient days, for an average of 72,016 patients per day. There were 58 births with a total of 202 newborn infant days.

The hospital operated at 82.57 per cent occupancy. The medical and surgical division of the hospital was at 93.34 per cent occupancy. The average

Brown said he believed the victims had been dead for at least 24 hours before they were found by firemen about 11 a.m.

Jeffrey was graduated from high school on Thursday but did not attend the commencement exercises.

Acting Police Chief Henry Olesky said neighbors told him they last saw members of the family on Saturday.

Neighbors and friends of the children said the family was well-liked, although they kept to themselves.

Each of the children played in the band at Maine East High School where they were enrolled and the parents were members of the school's Music Boosters Board.

stay for all patients was 5.78 days; the average for medical and surgical patients was 6.74 days.

There were 895 X-rays taken; 4,884 laboratory test run; 1,259 emergency patients treated; 85 major surgeries and 81 minor surgeries.

The total expenditure by the hospital for each patient day was $77.72. The budget had projected expenses of only $74.72, and the national average is $103, according to Kunz.

The cost per patient for each patient day was $73.67. The budget was based on an anticipated income of $71.16.

The total expense per admission at the hospital was $469.70. The budget called for expenses of $465.44. The national average is $766.76, according to Kunz.

A tractor, stolen from the Willis Lumber Co., 545 Millikan Ave., was driven into the northwest corner of the Ohio Water Service reservoir sometime Monday night, Washington C.H. Police officers reported.

Ptl. Mike Stritenberger explained the tractor was driven from the lumberyard through a fence also owned by the Ohio Water Service Co. Four of five rods of the fence were damaged, amounting to $100 worth of needed repair.

The tractor was spotted by a neighbor during an early morning jog. It had been driven some 10 feet into the water and was sunk to the top of the rear wheels.

EVERITT ROBBINS, general manager of Ohio Water Service Co., 149 S. Fayette St., expressed his concern about spilled gasoline from the tractor in the city's drinking water. After further investigation, Robbins reported there wasn't enough to harm the 200 million gallons of water the reservoir contains.

Ptl. Stritenberger stated the person or persons responsible for the incident could face charges of criminal trespass, criminal mischief and grand larceny. Investigation is continuing.

Robbins added there have been several vandalism incidents involving the reservoir. "A can of gasoline was thrown into the water last year and someone has recently thrown a swingset in and we are also having a lot of trouble keeping people from riding mini bikes around the reservoir and

Nixon heading home from Mideast jaunt

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — President Nixon ended his triumphant tour of the Middle East today with a promise of continued military and economic assistance to Jordan and an invitation to King Hussein for talks in Washington on "the strategy of future efforts to achieve peace" between the Arabs and Israel.

A joint Jordanian-American statement said the President and his royal host at the last stop on his five-nation swing discussed a whole range of Middle East issues and would resume these talks in Washington "at an early date."

Hussein and his wife, Queen Alyia, visited the United States last in March.

The statement promised a "special effort" by the U.S. government to assist Jordanian economic development and to "play a strong role in maintaining Jordan's military strength."

"It was agreed that a joint Jordanian-U.S. commission will be established at a high level to oversee and review on a regular basis the various areas of cooperation ... in the fields of economic development, trade, investments, military assistance and scientific, social and cultural affairs."

While Nixon and the king conferred this morning, Mrs. Nixon visited the Roman ruins at Jerash, 20 miles north of Amman. She told newsmen accompanying her that the President's peace initiatives will be successful because the Arab leaders he has talked to "know that war takes money away from the people."

From Amman, Nixon was flying home via the Azores for an overnight stop on those mid-Atlantic Portuguese islands with the leader of the Portuguese revolution, President Antonio de Spínola.

Hussein hailed Nixon's "journey for peace" in a banquet toast Monday night but cautioned that "the final goal is still many milestones away."

Hussein said withdrawal of Israeli forces from some of the Jordanian territory captured in 1967 should be the next step and was "an essential pre-

President's trip brings no changes

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — President Nixon has convinced four Arab leaders of his active neutrality between Israel and the Arabs, but he does not appear to have brought them closer to a compromise with Israel.

The American chief executive was told peace will never come to the Middle East without major concessions which Israel so far won't make—withdrawal from all territory captured from the Arabs, including Old Jerusalem, and restoration of Palestinian "rights."

The message was the same in Cairo, Jiddah, Damascus and Amman. Nixon admitted he had no solutions in his briefcase, but promised to use Washington's influence to maintain momentum for a settlement.

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat talked of removal of Israeli forces from the Sinai Peninsula and of settling the Palestinian question.

King Faisal of Saudi Arabia, who considers himself the protector of Islam's holiest shrines, spoke of returning Jerusalem to Arab sovereignty.

FARMING FISH? — It would probably be heavily disputed that's what vandals had in mind when they drove this tractor, stolen from Willis Lumber Co., into the Ohio Water Service Co. reservoir, off Dayton Avenue, sometime last

Robbins went on to state a plan may have to be initiated in which people pay a fee to fish and the area constantly checked to prevent further vandalism.

requisite to any permanent settlement."

The king said he hoped this disengagement of Israeli and Jordanian forces along the Jordan River could be accomplished "with the strong and friendly hand of America," an indication that he would welcome a Jerusalem-Amman diplomatic shuttle by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

Echoing what Nixon's hosts in Egypt, Saudi Arabia and Syria had told him, Hussein also called for Israeli withdrawal from all occupied Arab territory, restoration of Arab sovereignty over the Arab sector of Jerusalem, and recognition and restoration of the "legitimate rights of the Palestinian people" to return to their homeland and determine their own future.

Nixon in response said the United States is attempting to inject "one new element" into the Middle East—the use of its influence to bring together leaders of nations with disagreements "to try to find fair and just solutions to these problems."

He said he could not tell where or when his journey for peace would end, "the important thing is that it has begun." He promised that the United States "will do all that we can to keep the momentum going."

Nixon and his wife spent the night at a royal guest house atop an isolated, well-guarded hilltop 10 miles outside Amman.

Protection for the President's motorcades was the strongest of his tour.

Data on citizens found massive

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 1.25 billion pieces of information about American citizens have been collected in information data banks by 54 federal agencies, Congress has been told.

The statistics were contained in a 4,000-page report released today as the Senate Constitutional Rights subcommittee started work on privacy legislation.

The subcommittee says it is attempting to protect individual privacy against undue encroachment by data banks maintained by federal, state, local and commercial agencies.

Four states ignore disaster aid plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the nearly four weeks that the Federal Disaster Relief Act has been in effect, only two of six states declared disaster areas have taken advantage of its special grant program.

In addition, none of the other states declared disaster areas since April 20, 1973, and thus eligible for the program under a retroactivity clause, has asked to take part. Major disasters have occurred in 39 states since then.

Grants of up to $5,000 are available under the program to an individual or family after a major disaster if the applicants do not meet the qualifications of any of the other programs, which include loans and such direct assistance as rent-free housing and unemployment compensation.

States must meet 25 per cent of the grant costs, the federal government the remaining 75 per cent.

Only Arkansas and Oklahoma have joined the program. The governors of Missouri, Illinois, Minnesota and Kansas, which all were declared disaster areas last week, have not said whether their states will take part.

The governor of each state was informed of the law's provisions, including the retroactivity feature, when President Nixon signed it May 22.

Officials at the Federal Disaster Assistance Administration view the grant program as just one factor in the various forms of aid available to disaster victims.

The assistance administration sets up special centers in disaster areas to receive applications for the grants and various other programs provided by the new law.

Red Cross feels pinch on blood

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The lack of volunteer donors has reduced Red Cross blood supplies this summer, but a commercial center here that pays $10 per pint for blood reports it has all it needs.

Naomi Towers, administrative director of the Central Ohio Red Cross, said the agency is falling behind by about 1,000 pints of whole blood a month due to a "summer slump" in donations.

Pete Ratcliffe, supervisor of Blood Alliance, Inc., a commercial blood bank here, said "we have no slump at all in supply, although we feel a certain slowdown in volunteers during the summer since we're located near Ohio State (University)."

Ratcliffe said Blood Alliance pays $10 per pint "or a year's free coverage of blood supply insurance to donors and their families."

The Central Ohio Red Cross Center borrowed 300 pints of blood from Red Cross centers in neighboring states to keep even with the supply, according to Mrs. Towers.

Impeachment panel eyes next move

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee has entered the final week of examining evidence in its impeachment inquiry, still undecided about what comes next.

Questions concerning calling of witnesses, President Nixon's defense argument and public release of are being put off until the evidence is all in.

Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr. D-N.J., hopes that will have been gathered by Thursday or Friday and is planning to devote the following week to the unresolved questions.

The committee returns to the Watergate cover-up when it resumes its closed session today, concentrating on the establishment of the special Watergate prosecutor's office.

The committee is pursuing its inquiry in chronological order and the firing of special prosecutor Archibald Cox last Oct. 20 will about wind up the Watergate phase.

All that will be left then is an examination of Nixon's income tax payments for 1969-72, with the emphasis on his deduction of $576,000 for papers given to the United States, and a study of the secret bombing of Cambodia in 1969-70.

Stock prices near even

NEW YORK (AP) — Faint signs of a downturn in some short-term interest rates fed the stock market's current obsession today, bringing prices back from early morning lows.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 0.39 at 833.62. Shortly after opening, the blue-chip indicator was off more than 2 points in a carryover of Monday's 9.86 decline.

Declines beat back advances 2 to 1, however, among 1,456 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading was light.

Brokers say investors remained obsessed with high interest rates and their affect on corporate performance and the economy as whole. However, they note some optimism: several commercial paper companies, including the Federal National Mortgage Association, announced a reduction in short-term notes.

The American Stock Exchange's market-value index at noon was down .22 at 83.43. The most-active stock was Servotron, steady at 2 1/2.

Albert attacks meat situation

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Speaker Carl Albert today called the situation in the livestock industry an economic debacle and said "the administration gives every evidence that it understands neither the depth nor the meaning of the problem."

"The Congress may well be faced with one of the most serious economic problems since the Depression," Albert, D-Okla., said in opening three days of hearings before the House Agriculture Committee.

Livestock prices have fallen steadily at the farm level for eight months while holding relatively high at the retail level.

Meat producers have complained that they are losing money by selling at current prices.

Commission delays ban on fireworks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans can enjoy the patriotic and deafening boom of firecrackers this Fourth of July after all.

The government just asks that you be careful.

The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission voted 5-0 Monday, just six hours before its midnight firecracker ban was to have taken effect, to grant Chinese and U.S. fireworks firms a public hearing on their objections.

That stays the ban, new safety standards and labeling for other types of fireworks at least 30 days.

"The commission has not made any determination of the merits of the issues raised," a spokesman said. "It has only determined that objections meet the legal test to require a hearing."

Fireworks manufacturers and traders from Taiwan, Macao, Hong Kong and Oklahoma had complained that the proposed federal crackdown might stick them with $50 million worth of newly banned hazardous substances.

They argued in a petition submitted last Friday that the hazard of at least some small firecrackers could be reduced to "acceptable levels," and that certain other legal requirements of the law had not been met in the commission's proposed actions.

The commission estimated that 6,600 persons were treated in hospital emergency rooms for fireworks-related injuries last year. It concluded that while new performance standards could make most fireworks, including some rockets safer, there appeared to be no way to improve firecrackers short of a ban.

Commissioner Barbara Franklin said the proposed ban, even though stayed, "heightened peoples' awareness of firecrackers" through the widespread publicity it received.

"We've done as much as we can for this Fourth of July," she said.

The proposed regulations were opposed by a segment of the $180-million-a-year industry supplying two-thirds of the rockets and one-third of the firecrackers sold in the United States. The domestic segment of the industry, the American Pyrotechnics Association, whose members do not make firecrackers, supported the proposed ban.

Hawaii was twice rebuffed in its requests for an extension of the public comment period. The state attorney general, acting governor and chamber of commerce argued that firecrackers play an important role in Chinese-American religious and cultural celebrations.

City school board handles heavy agenda

A number of matters were discussed at the meeting of the Washington C.H. Board of Education, including personnel matters and expenditures for books, blacktopping of the senior high parking lot and for a new sound system in the junior high auditorium.

The blacktopping of the senior high parking lot was awarded to the L.P. Cavett Co. The firm's estimate of the project cost was $5,395. This estimate is nearly 40 per cent higher than estimates the board received one year ago. The increase was attributed to increased costs of materials.

A new sound system for the middle school auditorium will be purchased. The only estimate of cost was from Boylan and Cannon Electronics at $2,124. This would include an amplifier, two speakers and five microphones.

A total of 510 copies of new books for the middle school will be purchased by the board at a cost of just over $2,500.

The books are for math, typing and home economics.

It was recommended that copies of 17 new books be purchased for Washington Senior High School. However, board members pointed out that funds may not be available for all the proposed books, and the board authorized Superintendent Edwin M. Nestor to purchase whatever portion of the books for which funds were available.

ELEVEN NEW TEACHERS were hired by the board. They were Miss Margaret Emmelhainz, specialist for children with learning disabilities; Kirk Thompson, sixth grade; Mrs. Helen Pommert, reading; Miss Linda Young, business education; Christopher Waldrep, who has a master's degree, senior high art; Miss Karen Gerker, instrumental and vocal music at the middle school; Miss Marilyn Smith, elementary teacher for Eastside; Mrs. Emily King, who has a master's degree, elementary vocal music and senior high choir; Miss Kathryn Sulken, elementary art; Mrs. Carol Hoxie, senior English; and Mrs. Betty Aikens, elementary teacher.

The hiring of these 11 teacher leaves two vacancies in the system still to be filled. One is in the Naval ROTC program, the other for a senior English teacher.

Contracts for three elementary principals were renewed with increases in salary of $800 to $950. They were Robert Angus, Belle Aire; Charles Melton, Rose Avenue; and Mrs. Edna Watts, Cherry Hill. Supplemental contracts for non-classroom services were issued to Charles Shaffer, high school band director, and Victor Pontious, stage and dramatics director.

A number of non-certified personnel were given new or extended contracts, and Gary Shaffer was offered a contract to teach driver's education this summer.

A resignation from Allan Salvador, senior English teacher, was received and accepted by the board.

A PROPOSAL from the Title IV Center in Hillsboro for the development of a school for children with impaired hearing was discussed by the board. The proposal calls for some 11 school districts around Wilmington area, including Washington C.H. and Miami Trace, to co-support the school to be set up in New Antioch, Ohio 73, near the Laurel Oaks campus.

The proposal is in the infant stages at this point, but the board indicated it would be interested in seeing the idea further developed.

The board voted to renew a contract with Cartwright Rubbish Removal to service the system for another year. The contract calls for the services to be provided at the same cost as last year.

Action was taken on requests from two local sponsors seeking to rent the middle school auditorium. C.O. Varney Sr. and other area residents sought to rent the auditorium June 30 for the presentation of country and western shows at 4 and 8 p.m. The Washington C.H. Jaycees sought to rent the facilities for the Second Annual Country and Western Show Aug. 10. Both requests were granted by the board.

A rental request from a group which apparently has no local sponsors was tabled. The board wished to know more of the reason for the request.

Board policy has been to deny renting the school facility to groups which are engaged in a profit-making enterprise who do not have local sponsors.

A request from an area resident that the board remove an oak tree near Cherry Hill which overhangs his garage was discussed. No action was taken.

The board approved a number of fund transfers and requests from faculty members to attend professional meeting and to take continuing education college courses.

A ROUGH draft of the 1974-75 budget was discussed briefly. Further discussion and approval of a final budget are expected at the next board meeting July 15.

A report of the semi-annual inspection by the Fayette County Health Department was discussed. Numerous areas for improvement were cited by the health department, but all seemed to be minor matters, most of which had already been included in the board's schedule of summer maintenance projects.

Springfield man injured as beer truck hits limb

A Springfield man was injured when the Stroh's Beer truck he was driving struck a low hanging tree limb in Bloomington.

The Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported David Lee Rhodes, 20, of Springfield, had been driving west on Midland Avenue, 100 feet west of Main Street, when he misjudged the height of the truck and struck the limb with the right corner of the truck bed.

Rhodes was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital and treated for contusions of the left side of the head and abrasions of the lower lip. He was later released.

The truck incurred severe damage from the accident.

A traffic mishap occurred at the intersection of Fayette and Elm streets at 11:35 p.m. Monday, involving a truck driven by Scott L. Tarbutton, 16, of 548 Brentwood Dr., and Floyd D. Stookey, 76, of 1552 Washington Ave., city police reported.

Stookey was cited by city police for failure to yield right of way while making a left turn and moderate damage was incurred by both vehicles.

A hit-skip accident occurred sometime between 12:30 p.m. and 5 p.m. Monday, in a private parking lot at the rear of 132 S. Main St., police reported.

A car owned by Mark F. Newsome, of Chillicothe, incurred moderate damage to the left side and the front of the left door, from the unidentified driver. Police are investigating.

High court facilities ruling to have little effect in South

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A Supreme Court ruling that segregated private schools no longer can be given exclusive use of public recreation facilities apparently will have little impact in the South, where many whites fled to the suburbs years ago to avoid integration.

Most education officials polled after the ruling said such schools have their own facilities and that public ones are not needed. And some such schools, formed originally as tools of segregation, have now relaxed their policies and claim any child is welcome.

Die-hard segregationists said they didn't need public facilities for their schools and wouldn't use them if they did.

The Supreme Court upheld on Monday a district court ruling banning segregated schools in Montgomery, Ala., from using city football stadiums, baseball diamonds or basketball courts for official games.

But the high court failed to rule on whether the segregated academies could use other public facilities such as zoos, museums and parks and sent that matter back for the district court to decide.

George W. Shannon, editor of the segregationist magazine, "The Citizen," in Jackson, Miss., said the Citizen Council academies have been denied exclusive use of public facilities but that its pupils do make trips to public parks and zoos.

"They can go to parks or the Jackson zoo if they want to," Shannon said. "A representative of the (Ku Klux) Klan or the NAACP can go there."

He said council schools don't want to use public facilities because "we don't want any state aid of any kind."

Private school leaders in Montgomery where the case began in 1958 said the high court's decision now has little meaning because they no longer need to use the public facilities.

In Georgia, all three major private school organizations now claim to have racially open policies and therefore said they cannot be considered "white flight."

Board reviews joint project

The Fayette County Board of Commissioners met jointly with the Green County Board of Commissioners Monday afternoon and received the engineer's report of the Grassy Branch ditch project.

Acting on the petition submitted by Carl Fent, of Green County, the joint committee scheduled a final hearing on the project for 1:30 p.m. Aug. 5 in the county commissioners office in Xenia.

The engineer's report estimates cost of the project at $159,514. It affects some 74 landowners in Jasper and Jefferson townships in Fayette County and two townships in Greene County.

The ditch begins just off Allen Road in Fayette County and terminates on the Rosemoor farm in Greene County. Cost of the project will be shared by residents of the two counties.

DWIs increase

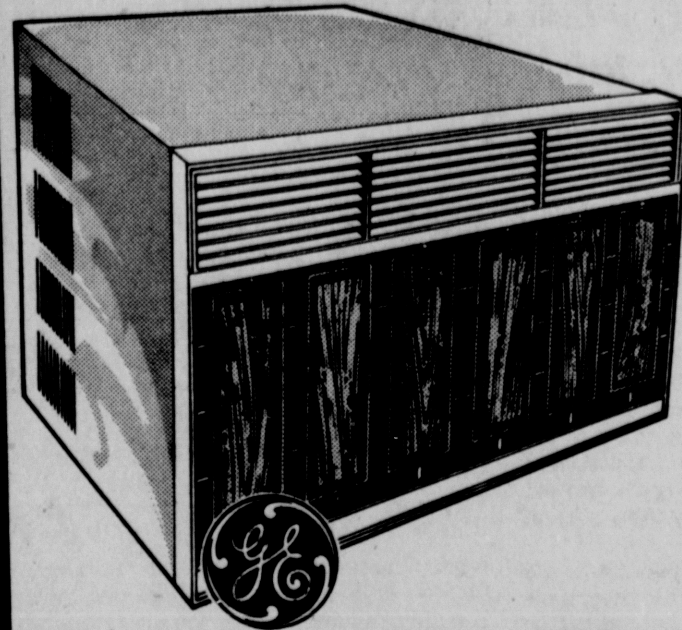

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — More arrests for drunken driving were made last month than in any comparable period, the state Highway Patrol reported today.

"We arrested 2,035 drivers for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of alcohol last month," said Col. Robert M. Chiaramonte, patrol superintendent.

"That total represents a 33 per cent increase over the May 1973 figure and is an all time record for the division."

Patrol officers, during the first five months of the year, have arrested more drunken drivers than any other year in the patrol's history, Chiaramonte said.

We won at spending

The newly disclosed comparison between American spending in Indochina and that of China and Russia make the vast U.S. outlay even more disturbing than it seemed before this was known. For as Rep. Les Aspin of Wisconsin observed in releasing Defense Intelligence Agency data, "These new figures show that while we were pouring in tens of billions of dollars to prop up a succession of governments in South Vietnam, the Russians and Chinese were spending peanuts."

Comparatively speaking, that is; the estimated 3.65 billion dollars in Russian and Chinese aid to North Vietnam since 1966 is no small amount. It dwindles almost to insignificance, however, when matched against the 107.1 billion which the Pentagon officially reports as the U.S. expenditure during that period.

A big part of the difference is accounted for by the fact that whereas Moscow and Peking provided only aid and technical assistance, the United States had to pay the heavy cost of its own active participation in the war. This boosted our spending to nearly 30 times that of the two big Communist powers. Yet even without this factor, the figures show, in the later war years U.S. aid to allies in Indochina was two to five times that of Russia and China combined.

This elicited from Aspin the following pungent comment: "There was only one superpower that sank billions and billions of dollars into that Vietnam rathole, and that was the United States." More than a year after U.S. forces were pulled out of South Vietnam, our government's spending there continues at a substantial rate. Taken all together, the Vietnam experience demonstrates, as the Wisconsin congressman notes, "that in a very literal sense the U.S. just can't afford to be the world's policeman."

Surviving the bicentennial

Watergate is hardly supplying a bicentennial atmosphere as 1976 approaches. Nixon, who would like to go out of office with the flags flying and the rhetoric flowing about the greatness of America as it celebrates its 200th anniversary, obviously has no time to think about things the other side of impeachment. But this, far from being an abnormal state of affairs in the public, is just about par for the course.

In a way, our bicentennial atmosphere recalls the headlines of the pre-centennial years of the late Eighteen Sixties and early Seventies. A terse advertisement, offered by the Richmond Corporation of Richmond, Va., as a hopeful reminder that the U.S. can survive any amount of adversity, ticks off our bigger crises, including the flagrant scandals that clouded our centennial preparations.

Let's amplify on the list a bit. In 1868, President Andrew Johnson escaped conviction after impeachment by a single vote. The sour state of Republican politics as Johnson clung to office didn't keep General Grant from winning the White House, in which he survived eight years of scandals that make Nixon's seem picayunish by comparison.

In 1868, Wall Street highbinders tried to corner the gold market, with a pretense of White House complicity. The Credit Mobilier stock distribution scandal, which reached as high as the Vice Presidency, came in 1872; in 1875, President Grant's private secretary, O.E. Babcock, was tried for complicity in the so-called Whisky Ring thefts; in 1876, graft in the Indian Service was exposed; and in that same year — the year of the centennial — the apparently solid election of a Democrat, Samuel Tilden, to the Presidency was negated by the manipulation of voting totals in Louisiana, Florida and South Carolina, where carpetbaggers from the North controlled the election boards.

THE RICHMOND Corporation's president, Warren Pace, offers his ad in hopes of bolstering "confidence in our economic and political system." I take his list of disasters as testimony to the somewhat different hope that our

GOP solon sees Perk doing well

By DEAN W. SCHOTT
Associated Press Writer
BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP) — The chairman of the Republican senatorial campaign says he believes Mayor Ralph J. Perk of Cleveland can recapture the U.S. Senate seat now held by Sen. Howard M. Metzenbaum from the Democrats.

"Obviously the situation is complicated by the fact that William Saxbe left and the incumbent is a Democrat," said Sen. William Brock of Tennessee on a recent trip to Burlington.

"However, we have a first-rate candidate in Perk. I think he can run as strong a race as anyone."

Perk faces former astronaut John Glenn, a Democrat, in the November general election in Ohio. Glenn defeated Metzenbaum last month in the Democratic fight for the party's nomination to a full six-year term.

Gov. John J. Gilligan named Metzenbaum to fill the unexpired term of Saxbe, who left the Senate to become attorney general.

Brock heads a committee that will raise money, plan strategy and campaign for Republicans in this year's Senate elections.

The junior senator from Tennessee said two things hurt Metzenbaum in the May primary.

"I think the tax issue killed Metzenbaum," he said. "And the rather idiotic statement that Glenn never worked hurt him."

Brock referred to the report that Metzenbaum, a Cleveland millionaire, paid no federal income taxes in 1969 and that his statement about Glenn gave the space hero a chance to reply that he had devoted most of his life to the military and to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Even though voters have been rejecting established politicians and electing new faces, Brock says he does not believe two-term Mayor Perk will be affected.

"Even though Perk has been in politics, he has been identified as a completely honest man," Brock said. "He has been frank to the point of his own political disadvantage, and the voters appreciate a man who says what he thinks."

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Poetry is fine,
but its not edible

DEAR ABBY: I dropped out of high school to be married. I am now 30, divorced, and have three children. We are totally dependent on welfare.

If I went to work I could earn $1.90 an hour as a motel maid, but here is my dilemma: I attend (but am not enrolled in) the poetry workshops of two colleges in my city. My teachers say I am very talented, and they urge me to stay with writing poetry. I have been published in some of the best literary magazines in the nation, and have had some very encouraging letters from editors, although they haven't paid me anything. My ambition is to become a major poet.

I have spent two years in therapy, but I can't analyze away my need to write poetry.

Now I must make a choice between my children's physical needs and what my family calls my "selfish ambition." I welcome your advice.

POOR, SCORNED AND TORN

DEAR P., S. AND T.: Since you are able to work I think you should get off welfare. Thus far your poetry has netted you only non-edible letters of encouragement. I advise you to get a paying job, and write poetry in your spare time.

DEAR ABBY: I am interested in the strange case of the woman who went to confession and was upset by the priest who confessed his own troubles to her. Even stranger was your advice that the priest should see a doctor!

So here's the situation: If a woman confesses to a priest, she's religious, but if a priest confesses to a woman, he's sick.

My God, Abby, if that's the best you can do, you should quit. Why didn't you simply advise the poor fellow to go to another priest and confess?

INFIDELIO

DEAR INF: The priest didn't merely "confess" to a woman—he broke down and wept—and to a parishioner who had come to HIM to confess yet. (This is healthy?)

True, another priest might have relieved the first priest's guilt by hearing his confession, but only a doctor can diagnose and treat one for an emotional disturbance, which appears to be the case here.

DEAR ABBY: I am a sailor who will be going on leave soon. I expect to be met at the airport by my parents and my girl friend. My problem is I don't know whose arms I should go to first. It will be a year and six months since I have been home.

You always say put your mate above all others because your mate will be your lifelong companion. Well, I am not married yet, but I think my girl friend will expect me to go to her first, and my mother will expect me to go to her first.

I love them both very much and wouldn't want to hurt either one, so whose arms do you recommend?

SAILOR

DEAR SAILOR: Since you aren't married yet, I'd suggest you greet your mother first. But once you take a mate, she comes first.

Wedding takes place in Columbus

Miss Jeannie Bea Stanley became the bride of Timothy Bruce Ladrach in the Boulevard United Presbyterian Church in Columbus. The Rev. E. Bert Bone performed the double-ring candlelight ceremony for the daughter of Mrs. Paul E. Whitehead and Kenneth C. Stanley, both of Columbus, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene C. Ladrach, 619 Warren Ave.

A large vase of white gladioli, daisies, pink carnations and baby's breath with two candles on either side enhanced the altar. Two seven-branch candelabra on either side on the altar were graced with white bows and greenery. Ferns were on either side of the nave. The was lined on both sides with singles brand candelabra with white bows and greenery.

Miss Terry Stoldt, a harpist from Columbus, presented a half-hour of pre-nuptial music, along with Mrs. Julane Johnson, organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of imported white silk organza with high neckline of Venice lace over a sheer yoke with matching lace forming an empire bodice. Lantern sleeves were cuffed with lace and banded with white satin ribbon. An A-lined skirt flowed into an attached wattle train ruffled at the hemline and banded with lace and ribbon. Her veil of two-tiered imported silk illusion was held in place by a matching Venice lace Juliet cap. Her bridal bouquet was made of white daisies, white roses and lily of the valley.

Matron of honor, Mrs. William J. Dovell Jr., sister of the bride of Columbus, wore a yellow floor-length gown of dotted Swiss with ruffled cap sleeve and scoop neck with empire bodice. The back of the gown was cut low with matching bow. The bridesmaids, Miss Cornelia Conrad and Miss Cathy Conrad, both cousins of the groom of St. Clairsville, and Mrs. Kenneth Peck of Columbus, friend of the bride, wore gowns like that of the matron of honor except in turquoise. They all wore matching garden hats with attached ribbon and three fresh daisies on the back.

Their cascade bouquets were made of white daisies, yellow roses, pink miniature carnation, purple statice and baby's breath with long white ribbons attached.

The bride's mother chose a pink crepe gown which was floor-length and V-neckline with long sleeves. The groom's mother wore a mint green formal length gown of antrone, which was floor-length sleeveless with a sheer floral jacket with attached beads. Their corsages were of white daisies, pink roses and miniature pink carnations.

Sarah Sidner, cousin of the groom of Delaware, was the flower girl. She wore a turquoise dotted Swiss dress with square neck, ruffled cap sleeves and matching ruffle at the bottom of the dress. She wore a matching brimless garden hat with fresh daisies in the back. She carried a small fireside basket of petals.

David Bentley Dovell of Columbus, nephew of the bride, was the ringbearer.

Samuel N. Ladrach served as best man for his brother, and the groomsmen Larry Hegedus of Galloway, cousin of the groom, Mark O'Flynn and Jim Tatman both of Columbus.

The couple left the ceremony to go to the reception in a 1939 Rolls Royce towncar. Knights of Columbus Hall was the setting for the reception for 180 guests which followed. A buffet dinner was served and everyone danced to the music of the Rick Monroe Orchestra. The bridal bouquet was caught by the groom's cousin, Miss Cathy Conrad, and the bride's garter by Chris Moore, the bride's cousin. The wedding cake consisted of chocolate and white cake with pale yellow icing. A staircase went from the top of the cake to the bottom.

Miss Milstead bride-elect is honored

A personal shower was held in the home of Mrs. Grace Lanum, honoring Miss Lynn Milstead, bride-elect of Rick Lewis. Assisting hostesses were Mrs. Mark Lucas, Mrs. Joseph Lanum and Mrs. Grace Lanum.

Prizes of games were won by Mrs. John Milstead, Mrs. Leonard Milstead and Mrs. Dennis Garringer, who presented them to the bride-elect.

Miss Milstead opened many lovely gifts, from a lace-covered table centered with fresh roses.

Refreshments of cake, punch, mints and nuts were served to Mrs. John Milstead and Mrs. Allen Lewis, mothers of the betrothed couple, Mrs. Dorothy Bowen and Mrs. Leonard Milstead, grandmothers of the bride-elect, and Mrs. Dennis Garringer, Mrs. Stan Stanley, Miss Susan Milstead, Miss Marcia Seifried, Mrs. Frank Yoakum, Miss Brenda Coe, Mrs. Dennis DeMolet, Mrs. Steve Smith, Miss Lee Ann White, Mrs. Paul Gookenbarger, Mrs. Joseph Lanum, Mrs. Mark Lucas and Mrs. Grace Lanum.

Dodgers' lead cut to six games

Reds overpower Montreal in 12-3 win

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Dan Driessen of the Cincinnati Reds has bad news for believers in the sophomore jinx.

"I've never given it any thought," said the "baby" of the Reds, a rookie-of-the-year candidate last year when he hit .301.

The 23-year-old South Carolinian is confident he's on his way to more.

And his aching back promises to be a pain in the neck for opposing National League pitchers.

Driessen drove in three runs with three hits Monday night to spearhead a lusty Cincinnati attack that swamped the Montreal Expos 12-3 Monday night before a national television audience.

Driessen's soft liners were sprayed in three different directions.

"That's the kind of hitter I am," said the quiet lefthanded third baseman.

"When I'm in the groove, nobody can set his defenses against me."

"If I can stay consistent, I can easily hit .300 every year. I just want to do it again...for the next 19 years," he said. He limped to first base each time due to a sore back he said came from a day of answering fan mail.

Driessen, Pete Rose and Cesar Geronimo each pounded out three hits as the Reds closed to within six games of the frontrunning Los Angeles Dodgers, 7-3 losers to Pittsburgh.

Fred Norman made his return from the injured list a successful one, with a route-going performance. A pulled rib muscle had kept him out of action for 15 days.

"I felt it bother me in the third, so I just shortened up my delivery. It was nice to see those runs going up there in four," said the stubby lefty, now 6-5.

The Reds landed hard on Expos starter Steve Rogers, now 7-7 and the victim of his fifth straight loss.

Norman's support came in clusters. A four-run first left Rogers reeling, but the Expos countered with two in the second.

Then came the deluge. The Reds stamped in four runs in the fourth and four more in the fifth. Exit Rogers.

Tony Perez matched Driessen's RBI total with three, thanks to a dropped two-out pop fly by Montreal catcher Barry Foote.

Perez lined the next pitch to the left-centerfield fence for a three-run double.

The victory was the Reds' 16th in their last 22 outings and brought talk of momentum.

"I don't know why, but we seem to start playing when the weather gets nice," said Manager George "Sparky" Anderson.

"It's going to be a tight race," he offered for the unimpeachable time.

The Dodgers, meanwhile, bowed to the Pittsburgh Pirates 7-3 and have dropped five of their last seven. Their lead in the loss column is only four games.

Elsewhere, the Philadelphia Phillies shaded the Houston Astros 7-5, the San Francisco Giants blanked the St. Louis Cardinals 3-0, the Atlanta Braves whipped the New York Mets 8-1 and the San Diego Padres edged the Chicago Cubs 7-5 in 13 innings.

Anderson, predicting a tight race, said, "I would like to get within three-four games by AllStar time. We play them four the first week of July and we have to win three to get that close..."

Dan Driessen and Tony Perez drove in three runs each and the Reds used a 16-hit attack and a trio of four-run uprisings to batter the Expos and Steve Rogers.

Pirates 7, Dodgers 3

The Dodgers had their problems seeing and fielding the ball in Pittsburgh and six of the Pirates' run were unearned.

"We made enough mistakes to lose two or three games," said Manager Walter Alston. "I was kind of pleased with Don Sutton's pitching, but we kicked the ball around a lot so he didn't have much support."

Phillies 7, Astros 5

Pinch hitter Tony Taylor slammed his first home run of the season, a tie-breaking two-run shot with two out in the eighth inning off Claude Osteen after a single by Bob Boone, who singled in a pair of runs in the second.

Giants 3, Cardinals 0

Gary Thomasson drove in two runs with singles and Jim Barr, a refugee from the bullpen, scattered eight hits for his second straight shutout.

Braves 8, Mets 1

Darrell Evans drove in two runs with a homer and a single and Rowland Office cracked a two-run double while Phil Niekro held the slump-ridden Mets to four hits, two in the first inning.

Padres 7, Cubs 5

Dave Winfield, who homered in the sixth inning, drove in the tie-breaking run with a single in the 13th.

Frazier smokes Quarry

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Frazier came out smokin' Monday night, blasted his way back into the heavyweight title picture and cast a giant shadow over Jerry Quarry's dream of ever wearing that coveted crown.

"I wanted the public to see that I'm going back to being the old Smokin' Joe," said Frazier, moments after stopping Quarry at 1:37 of the fifth round of their scheduled 12-round bout at Madison Square Garden.

"All the things they said I couldn't do, I did tonight," Frazier said. "I really felt good—just like my old self." It was the old Smokin' Joe, the aggressive battler with the devastating left hook, but with some new wrinkles—an effective right hand, some pesky jabs, a smothering defense. And he proved that the new Quarry was little more dangerous than the old one, whom Frazier beat in seven rounds five years ago.

A cut above the left eye, opened by Frazier early in the fifth round, led referee Joe Louis—the former king of the heavyweights—to stop the fight. But even without the cut, there was little doubt the fight belonged to Frazier.

"Everything I worked so hard for just didn't work," said a disconsolate Quarry, who needed 15 stitches to close the cut above his left eye and three stitches to bind a smaller wound above his right eye. "I just didn't have any strength, nothing."

"I had a very long elusive dream," Quarry said of his quest for the heavyweight title. "I'm not sure I can make it now."

Quarry had six straight knockouts since ending a brief retirement 18 months ago. But Frazier was another matter, thanks largely to the ex-champ's manager, Eddie Futch, who designed the varied attack Frazier used so effectively.

"I've got to give all the credit to Eddie," said Frazier, who weighed 212 pounds to 197½ for Quarry. "He brought what was in me out again."

"We worked on Joe's right hand, because I thought we would catch Jerry off-guard," said Futch, explaining the presence of the unexpectedly effective right in the Frazier arsenal. "We knew Jerry would be looking for a left-hook attack."

The victory provided for Frazier a decisive answer to critics who claimed that his hardfought victory in the first Muhammad Ali fight had taken too much out of him.

Pirates take league lead

Defeating the Dodgers 13-7, the Pirates moved into the early lead, as the Friday Night Golf League opened its second round with a make-up match, Monday evening.

James Polk took low honors for the day by shooting a 37. Low team score was carded by the Yankees with 226 strokes.

It was also announced that the Team Scramble Tournament, which was cancelled last Sunday because of rain, has been rescheduled for this Sunday. New teams will be assigned, so everyone must sign up for the tourney again.

HILLSBORO, Ohio (AP) — Melvin Greenberg of Los Angeles, Calif., won a continuance Monday of an extradition hearing, as Virginia authorities worked to return him to face fraud charges.
Greenberg, 52, is to appear Wednesday in Highland County Common Pleas Court.
He was jailed in this community of 5,000 Thursday after allegedly trying to convince city businessmen that he was planning a movie that would star Rock Hudson, Kirk Douglas and Burt Lancaster.

A check with the national crime center revealed he was wanted for grand larceny and cashing bad checks in Virginia, where police said he is wanted in connection with a similar film promotion.
Officials said Greenberg interviewed a number of people in Hillsboro for parts in a film he said would be shot at nearby Rocky Fork State Park.
He allegedly promised roles to persons paying $15 for union initiation fees. He also booked all available motels in the area, police said.

Routine matters handled in Kiwanis Club meeting

Routine business matters were handled during the regular monthly meeting of the Washington C.H. Kiwanis Club's board of directors Monday night in the Lafayette Inn.
Matters discussed included a midjet auto race project. Decision on the project was tabled until questions could be answered concerning the site and a suitable date.

Louie Kuhlwein reported on the need the Community Education program had for funds to operate through June, 1975. He pointed out that the program must be supported by community funds and cited examples of donations given by other service clubs and organizations. Kiwanis Club members agreed unanimously to donate $400 to the program.

Board members also agreed to donate $25 to the Veterans Memorial Fund.

In closing, the club heard a short Horse show here draws 335 riders

A total of 335 riders participated in the Bloomingburg Lions Club horse show at the Fairground Sunday.

Although somewhat hampered by the rain, the judging in all 19 classes was finished by late afternoon. Judge for the show was Robert Reel, Indianapolis, Ind. Ringmasters were Eddie Corzatt and Carroll Smith.

Halter class winners were presented with silver trays and ribbons. Performance class winners were presented silver trophies, ribbons, and money.

Class winners were Bonnie Myers, Mount Sterling, 4-H horsemanship 14 and under; Marisa Stuckey, Sabina, 4-H showmanship 15 and over, open showmanship; Eddie Braden, Good Hope, registered quarter horse class; Jim Dallas, Urbana, pony pleasure class; Dave Hinton, Laurelville, $50 stake flag race, $50 stake barrel race, pickup race; Kay Tracy, Mount Sterling, egg and spoon race; Frank Fowler, Jamestown, men's pleasure class, open western pleasure class, $50 pleasure stake; Todd Fowler, registered quarter pleasure class; Janet Fowler, ladies pleasure class.

report from Ora Burdge on the old Washington Cemetery. Burdge said the lawn is in good shape, all weeds and rubbish bordering the cemetery have been cut and removed and the cemetery is now clearly visible from W. Court Street.

Pat Palmaccio, past president of the Washington C.H. Kiwanis Club now residing in Massachusetts, was a guest with Kuhlwein. Five members of the Westgate club in Columbus were guests. They were Bob Dunkle, John Cannon, Wendell Edwards, Walter Volmuth and Jim Garrett.

Money Does Matter . . .

By Robert E. English

ARE YOU "MATURE", A WOMAN, NEED MONEY?

Are you rejecting the thought of employment, just because you are a woman and you are 45, 55, even older?

Think about this: most women in your age bracket do work.

Employers have been learning, through experience, that there are definite advantages in their employing older women.

"Mature" women have been proven to be more reliable, more faithful in attendance, inclined to be more patient with impatient or inconsiderate customers.

They also have fewer "babysitting" concerns, are possessed of better attitudes, better work habits, and are more likely to hold a specific job or responsibility longer than a younger woman.

If you are "mature", need or want a job, you are likely to get one easier.

The Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D.C. 20402, has some helpful guidelines in "Job Hunting For Mature Women."

Many champions are born and then unmade.

A kid is an athlete. Even the tiniest kid. Maybe he doesn't call his games basketball or football or tennis, but he goes at them hard all day long: running, jumping, climbing, tumbling around.

That's why Converse makes P.F. Flyers. We're an athletic shoe manufacturer and we think a young athlete's first shoe should be as athletic as he is.

We know a kid needs the fit and support and feel of athletic shoes as much as big time athletes do. Maybe even more. That's why he needs P.F.'s by Converse. They have the exclusive Posture Foundation* wedge and arch cushion to take all the hours of hard-driving exercise a kid puts in every day.

P.F.'s alone won't make a champion. But they won't unmake one. And that should be important to you.

Get them off on the right shoes.

Opening lead — six of hearts.

First let's imagine you're an average bridge player. Then let's stretch your imagination still further and assume there's a national championship in progress at a nearby emporium, and, since you've never seen the experts play, that you decide to go there to see for yourself whether these sharks are really as good as they're cracked up to be.

You get there bright and early one day and settle down alongside Chester Sludgebucket (South), an expert who is said to be almost as good as he thinks he is.

On the very first hand he gets to three notrump. Maybe you wouldn't have bid his hand that way, but, when dummy appears, you realize that our hero luckily stumbled into the best contract.

Mr. Sludgebucket ducks two rounds of hearts and wins the third one with the ace. Since that is what you'd have done, you are not particularly impressed. But when he next leads a spade to the king you start to wonder why in the world he did this rather than run his diamonds first.

You get no time to consider the question, because Mr. S. now leads a diamond from dummy and plays low when East follows with the jack! This also proves to be a lucky shot because he winds up making three notrump, whereas he would have gone down had he earlier tried to run the diamonds by leading them from his hand.

When you go home and study the hand, you realize that it was more than just plain luck that induced Mr. S. to choose this method of play, and that maybe he knows a thing or two more about the game than the crowd you play with knows.

It kind of makes you think.

Problems with the Ureter

An X-ray showed that I have a kink in my ureter. Could I have had this for a long time without any symptoms? How serious is it? Can it affect the stomach in any way?

Mrs. P.M.F., Calif.

The ureter is one of two narrow tubes that carries urine from the kidneys to the bladder.

The average length is about 10 inches. Normally, urine flows without any obstruction.

A kink in the ureter simply means that the free flow may be interrupted partially or completely. It is one of a few birth defects which can be present in this anatomical region.

Occasionally, a blood vessel may wind itself around the ureter. This is one of the reasons for such kinking.

If the kinking does not impair the flow of urine and cause back pressure on a kidney, the condition need not be serious.

When complete obstruction occurs, surgery can relieve the condition. Many operations are now performed where ureters are partially replaced with synthetic material implanted in the bladder.

The medical or surgical treatment depends, of course, on the evaluation of each individual case.

You probably were born with this condition. Occasionally, infection or injury can cause it.

I see no relationship between this and complaints related to the stomach.

One child after another in our neighborhood has been coming down with impetigo. Can you tell me something about this disease? Is it dangerous?

Mrs. T.H., Maine

Impetigo, technically known as impetigo contagiosa, is a highly contagious skin condition.

It is caused by the staphylococcus or the streptococcus germ. It occurs in infants and young children and is passed from one to another in such places as camps and schools.

Immediate isolation of infected children and strict hygienic measures are the only way to keep this infection from spreading.

It is not a dangerous condition — antibiotics can bring it under control.

Some zoologists place pandas in the bear family; others say they are related to raccoons. National Geographic says, Smithsonian Institution scientists believe they belong in a separate family of their own.

In Focus

by
Charlie Pensyl

You've seen lots of slide shows; some good, some bad, many just so-so.

There's no reason they couldn't all be good. The one putting together the show can follow a few simple rules and make the show interesting for all. First of all, keep in mind the purpose of the show. Is the show designed to tell friends of our trip to Tokyo, or to show the home handyman how to lay a tile floor? Tell a story or teach a lesson?

Remember to shoot enough slides so that you'll have plenty to choose from. But please, please, don't use all of them! The greatest fault in most slide shows is that it is too long. Be ruthless in cutting the show down to size. The longest shows made by the pros at Eastman Kodak are about 140 slides long (one Carousel tray).

Vary the length of time each slide is on the screen. Don't let the show become monotonous. Pacing the show is most important. And add variety with plenty of close-ups, night shots, maybe maps, or paintings.

Then put it all together with a musical background and you've got a show that will be interesting and instructive.

Next time you see a show made by a pro, check it out for the points above. You can learn much from watching the work of others. Ed Griffin's shows, though designed to instruct rather than to entertain, are always well done. We will be showing his WORLD WITHOUT CANCER show Tuesday, June 25, at 7:30. Ed had done a good job with this show in telling the story of the control of cancer with Laetrile.

Oh, yes, now is the time to think about your photographic entries in the fair. Don't put it off. The time is getting short.

Receiving stolen property charge lodged against boy

A 16-year-old Dayton boy has been charged by the Fayette County Sheriff's Department with receiving stolen property.

The youth was stopped by Deputy Sheriff Charles W. Wise on U.S. 35 near Bush Road, and asked for his driver's license. Wise discovered the boy had two.

A computer check disclosed one license had been stolen from the Ohio Bureau of Motor Vehicles and had been filled out to show the youth's age as 18.

The Sheriff's Department reported the boy had been released to his father pending a hearing in juvenile court.

Sheriff's deputies also reported the theft of 1,400 feet of copper wire, stolen from 11 telegraph poles owned by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Co., 211 W. Paint St.

The theft occurred sometime between June 10 and 10 a.m. Sunday. The value of the wire was estimated at $200 and investigation is continuing.

City police received a larceny report of a solid gold necklace valued at $200 and belonging to Edna Brock, 221 N. Hinde St.

Police stated the necklace had been stolen from a jewelry box at the Brock residence, sometime between February and May, with no sign of forced entry.

An eight year-old S. Hinde Street girl was bitten by a dog on the right ankle while riding her bicycle on South Main Street at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

Myra Dawn Hecker, 832 S. Hinde St., was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital, where she was treated and released.

Village chief in hot water

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Burton Village Council President Charles Pickett is in hot water.

He is to appear in Chardon Municipal Court today on a charge of petty theft.

Last Sunday night, cemetery sexton Richard Hess was walking through the village cemetery behind Pickett's house when he noticed a hose hooked onto the cemetery water tap.

He followed the hose about 200 feet through a garden and up to Pickett's 7,500-gallon swimming pool. Then he called the police.

"The tap was handy, too damned handy. It'll never happen again," Pickett said.

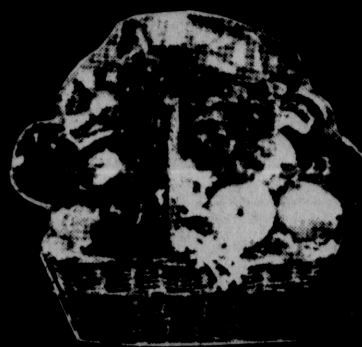

Pickett offered to pay for the water, either $1.60 or $8.50, depending on how the Board of Public Affairs assesses him.

The charges were computed by the village clerk, Pickett's wife, Marilyn.

The Victoria Cross, the highest award for valor given in the British Commonwealth, was established in 1856 by Queen Victoria.

TREE LIMB CRASHES "STROH A PARTY" — This accident which occurred Monday evening in Bloomingburg brought a crowd of beer lovers out of their homes, in hopes of a discount on damaged merchandise. The driver of the truck misjudged the height of his vehicle and hit a tree limb. He was injured in the mishap, but was treated and released at the hospital. The beer lovers returned disappointed to their homes after the damage was cleaned up as no sales were made.

Chicago family found slain

PARK RIDGE, Ill. (AP) — Authorities are trying to piece together the final hours of a family neighbors described as close-knit, quiet and unassuming before death entered a neat suburban home.

Raymond A. Fuchs, 49, a purchasing agent for a small electronics manufacturer; his wife Ruth, 48; their daughter, Linda, 14, and son Scott, 16, were found slain Monday in the basement of their brick ranch-style house in this well-to-do suburb northwest of Chicago.

A fifth, badly burned body found in the kitchen of the home by firemen called to extinguish a blaze matched the description of the family's eldest son, Jeffrey, 18, but remained unidentified.

Firemen said they had not determined the cause of the fire, but a fire official said it may have been started to cover up the slayings.

"It could be the body in the kitchen is also the person who started the fire," said Anthony Sciaraffa, deputy coroner of Cook County. "We definitely have a homicide in regard to the persons in the basement."

Fire Chief Norman Brown said the blaze apparently started in the basement, where gas and oil cans also were found, he said.

Nevertheless, Sciaraffa said none of the bodies found in the basement appeared to have been burned.

The body of Mrs. Fuchs was found with her hands bound to a wash tub, said Sciaraffa. Linda's body lay next to her mother's.

Defense chief against aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger apparently has some reservations about the new U.S. agreement to help Egypt build nuclear power plants.

Asked at a Monday news conference whether he would have recommended such aid to Egypt, Schlesinger said, "I think that I would have pointed out the advantages or the disadvantages of such a course of action."

Some Pentagon officials agreed with a reporter's impression that the defense secretary probably leans more against the idea than toward it. "I think he would have put the cons before the pros," one official said.

Schlesinger said, "We must accept the fact that normalization will imply that the various kinds of agreements into which the United States has regularly entered with a large number of governments ... would likely be available" to Egypt or Israel.

Although he included Israel in this, it appeared Schlesinger had Egypt chiefly in mind because he referred to "normalization" of relations. The United States has recently restored normal diplomatic relations with Egypt after a seven-year break. U.S. relations with Israel never have been ruptured.

Critics in Congress questioned whether President Nixon's promise to supply nuclear materials and advice to Egypt for peaceful purposes might open the way to Egypt's developing nuclear weapons. No such criticism has been voiced against the similar U.S. commitment to Israel, which already has two nuclear reactors. Some experts believe the Israelis could build atomic weapons now, if they wished.

The mother suffered a wound near the head and the daughter received two wounds on either side of the head. Sciaraffa did not describe the wounds. A bloodied kitchen knife which could have been used as a weapon was found nearby, Sciaraffa said.

Scott's body was found in another part of the basement. His hands were tied behind his back with a rope running around his neck, Sciaraffa said. Fuchs was found near his younger son. He was not bound. Neither showed any wounds, Sciaraffa said.

All the bodies were wrapped in bedding or blankets, Sciaraffa said. Cause of the deaths was under investigation.

Improvement projects at hospital approved

The Fayette Memorial Hospital board of trustees met Monday night and discussed a number of hospital improvement projects. Robert L. Kunz, hospital administrator, was authorized to pursue four of the proposed programs.

Kunz was authorized to proceed with plans to recruit physicians to staff the hospital emergency room 24 hours each day. More than 1,000 emergency cases were handled in the emergency room during May and the trustees feel there is an urgent need to have a full-time staff for the emergency facilities.

The board asked Kunz to arrange meetings with architects to further discuss the possibility for expanding the present hospital facilities. The proposed expansion would include more beds, laboratories and therapy rooms.

The hospital administrator was authorized to let bids for a new emergency generator and for new boilers. The boilers presently being used at the hospital are 24 years old.

THE BOARD received notification from a Youngstown attorney that the will of Freda Green bequeaths $1,000 to Fayette Memorial Hospital.

Statistics for the hospital during the month of May were reviewed. The report showed there were 373 admissions with a total of 2,237 patient days, for an average of 72,016 patients per day. There were 58 births with a total of 202 newborn infant days.

The hospital operated at 82.57 per cent occupancy. The medical and surgical division of the hospital was at 93.34 per cent occupancy. The average

Brown said he believed the victims had been dead for at least 24 hours before they were found by firemen about 11 a.m.

Jeffrey was graduated from high school on Thursday but did not attend the commencement exercises.

Acting Police Chief Henry Olesky said neighbors told him they last saw members of the family on Saturday.

Neighbors and friends of the children said the family was well-liked, although they kept to themselves.

Each of the children played in the band at Maine East High School where they were enrolled and the parents were members of the school's Music Boosters Board.

stay for all patients was 5.78 days; the average for medical and surgical patients was 6.74 days.

There were 895 X-rays taken; 4,884 laboratory test run; 1,259 emergency patients treated; 85 major surgeries and 81 minor surgeries.

The total expenditure by the hospital for each patient day was $77.72. The budget had projected expenses of only $74.72, and the national average is $103, according to Kunz.

The cost per patient for each patient day was $73.67. The budget was based on an anticipated income of $71.16.

The total expense per admission at the hospital was $469.70. The budget called for expenses of $465.44. The national average is $766.76, according to Kunz.

A tractor, stolen from the Willis Lumber Co., 545 Millikan Ave., was driven into the northwest corner of the Ohio Water Service reservoir sometime Monday night, Washington C.H. Police officers reported.

Ptl. Mike Stritenberger explained the tractor was driven from the lumberyard through a fence also owned by the Ohio Water Service Co. Four of five rods of the fence were damaged, amounting to $100 worth of needed repair.

The tractor was spotted by a neighbor during an early morning jog. It had been driven some 10 feet into the water and was sunk to the top of the rear wheels.

EVERITT ROBBINS, general manager of Ohio Water Service Co., 149 S. Fayette St., expressed his concern about spilled gasoline from the tractor in the city's drinking water. After further investigation, Robbins reported there wasn't enough to harm the 200 million gallons of water the reservoir contains.

Ptl. Stritenberger stated the person or persons responsible for the incident could face charges of criminal trespass, criminal mischief and grand larceny. Investigation is continuing.

Robbins added there have been several vandalism incidents involving the reservoir. "A can of gasoline was thrown into the water last year and someone has recently thrown a swingset in and we are also having a lot of trouble keeping people from riding mini bikes around the reservoir and

Nixon heading home from Mideast jaunt

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — President Nixon ended his triumphant tour of the Middle East today with a promise of continued military and economic assistance to Jordan and an invitation to King Hussein for talks in Washington on "the strategy of future efforts to achieve peace" between the Arabs and Israel.

A joint Jordanian-American statement said the President and his royal host at the last stop on his five-nation swing discussed a whole range of Middle East issues and would resume these talks in Washington "at an early date."

Hussein and his wife, Queen Alyia, visited the United States last in March.

The statement promised a "special effort" by the U.S. government to assist Jordanian economic development and to "play a strong role in maintaining Jordan's military strength."

"It was agreed that a joint Jordanian-U.S. commission will be established at a high level to oversee and review on a regular basis the various areas of cooperation ... in the fields of economic development, trade, investments, military assistance and scientific, social and cultural affairs."

While Nixon and the king conferred this morning, Mrs. Nixon visited the Roman ruins at Jerash, 20 miles north of Amman. She told newsmen accompanying her that the President's peace initiatives will be successful because the Arab leaders he has talked to "know that war takes money away from the people."

From Amman, Nixon was flying home via the Azores for an overnight stop on those mid-Atlantic Portuguese islands with the leader of the Portuguese revolution, President Antonio de Spínola.

Hussein hailed Nixon's "journey for peace" in a banquet toast Monday night but cautioned that "the final goal is still many milestones away."

Hussein said withdrawal of Israeli forces from some of the Jordanian territory captured in 1967 should be the next step and was "an essential pre-

President's trip brings no changes

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — President Nixon has convinced four Arab leaders of his active neutrality between Israel and the Arabs, but he does not appear to have brought them closer to a compromise with Israel.

The American chief executive was told peace will never come to the Middle East without major concessions which Israel so far won't make—withdrawal from all territory captured from the Arabs, including Old Jerusalem, and restoration of Palestinian "rights."

The message was the same in Cairo, Jiddah, Damascus and Amman. Nixon admitted he had no solutions in his briefcase, but promised to use Washington's influence to maintain momentum for a settlement.

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat talked of removal of Israeli forces from the Sinai Peninsula and of settling the Palestinian question.

King Faisal of Saudi Arabia, who considers himself the protector of Islam's holiest shrines, spoke of returning Jerusalem to Arab sovereignty.

Syria's President Hafez Assad stressed that military disengagement in the Golan Heights must be only a "first step toward ... Israel's withdrawal from all occupied Arab territory and securing the national rights of the Palestinian people."

And King Hussein of Jordan asked Nixon to press for immediate Israeli withdrawal from the Jordan Valley, to create a six-mile demilitarized zone along the Jordan River similar to those separating Israeli forces from the Egyptian and Syrian armies on the Suez canal and the Golan Heights.

Hussein also outlined his ideas for a Palestinian solution: To let the 640,000 Palestinians on the West Bank of the Jordan River choose one of three alternatives once Israel withdraws—"continued union with Jordan, a new form of federation with the rest of Jordan or the creation of a separate state" uniting the West Bank and the Gaza Strip.

Saxbe raps Nixon information leaks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe says President Nixon was wrong to tell aides about secret grand jury proceedings on Watergate. Saxbe on Monday defended Asst. Atty. Gen. Henry Petersen's actions in discussing with Nixon the grand jury investigation into the Watergate break-in.

Saxbe said he believes Petersen would not have discussed the case with Nixon if he had known "that it was thereafter immediately discussed with numerous people and leaked all over."

The attorney general was interviewed by columnist George Will for a program produced by the National Public Affairs Center for Television. Will asked him: "Who was doing something wrong?"

Saxbe answered: "Well, the President in discussing this grand jury material with Mr. Haldeman and Mr. Ehrlichman, or whoever came in the office."

Former top Nixon aides H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman now are under indictment in the Watergate cover-up.

Petersen headed the original Watergate investigation before a special prosecutor was appointed.

The transcripts of White House conversations released by the White House show Petersen frequently went to the President's office to discuss the investigation. The transcripts also show that Nixon passed this information to Haldeman and Ehrlichman.

"After the discussions (with Petersen), there were further discussions within that room on matters that Mr. Petersen had brought in about what was happening before the grand jury. And this was wrong," Saxbe said.

Saxbe defended Petersen's relaying of grand jury information to Nixon, saying, "Petersen's only boss at that time was the President of the United States and he had to look somewhere." Richard G. Kleindienst, who was the attorney general, had taken himself out of the case.

Saxbe also contradicted presidential speechwriter Patrick Buchanan, who last week said the composition of the Watergate grand jury is unfair to Nixon.

Buchanan accused the grand jury of bias and pointed out that most of the jurors are black and Democrats.

"I don't think you could ever get a jury that would satisfy both the defendant and the prosecution, and especially after the fact," Saxbe said.

Stolen tractor driven into reservoir

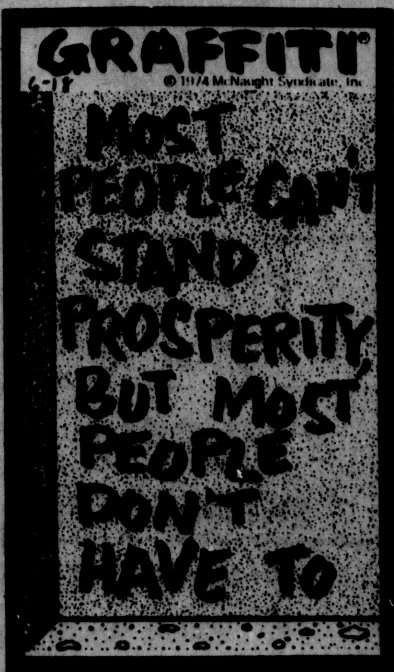

FARMING FISH? — It would probably be heavily disputed that's what vandals had in mind when they drove this tractor, stolen from Willis Lumber Co., into the Ohio Water Service Co. reservoir, off Dayton Avenue, sometime last fishing on the private property," he said.

Robbins went on to state a plan may have to be initiated in which people pay a fee to fish and the area constantly checked to prevent further vandalism.

requisite to any permanent settlement."

The king said he hoped this disengagement of Israeli and Jordanian forces along the Jordan River could be accomplished "with the strong and friendly hand of America," an indication that he would welcome a Jerusalem-Amman diplomatic shuttle by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

Echoing what Nixon's hosts in Egypt, Saudi Arabia and Syria had told him, Hussein also called for Israeli withdrawal from all occupied Arab territory, restoration of Arab sovereignty over the Arab sector of Jerusalem, and recognition and restoration of the "legitimate rights of the Palestinian people" to return to their homeland and determine their own future.

Nixon in response said the United States is attempting to inject "one new element" into the Middle East—the use of its influence to bring together leaders of nations with disagreements "to try to find fair and just solutions to these problems."

He said he could not tell where or when his journey for peace would end, "the important thing is that it has begun." He promised that the United States "will do all that we can to keep the momentum going."

Nixon and his wife spent the night at a royal guest house atop an isolated, well-guarded hilltop 10 miles outside Amman.

Protection for the President's motorcades was the strongest of his tour.

Data on citizens found massive

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 1.25 billion pieces of information about American citizens have been collected in information data banks by 54 federal agencies, Congress has been told.

The statistics were contained in a 4,000-page report released today as the Senate Constitutional Rights subcommittee started work on privacy legislation.

The subcommittee says it is attempting to protect individual privacy against undue encroachment by data banks maintained by federal, state, local and commercial agencies.

Four states ignore disaster aid plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the nearly four weeks that the Federal Disaster Relief Act has been in effect, only two of six states declared disaster areas have taken advantage of its special grant program.

In addition, none of the other states declared disaster areas since April 20, 1973, and thus eligible for the program under a retroactivity clause, has asked to take part. Major disasters have occurred in 39 states since then.

Grants of up to $5,000 are available under the program to an individual or family after a major disaster if the applicants do not meet the qualifications of any of the other programs, which include loans and such direct assistance as rent-free housing and unemployment compensation.

States must meet 25 per cent of the grant costs, the federal government the remaining 75 per cent.

Only Arkansas and Oklahoma have joined the program. The governors of Missouri, Illinois, Minnesota and Kansas, which all were declared disaster areas last week, have not said whether their states will take part.

The governor of each state was informed of the law's provisions, including the retroactivity feature, when President Nixon signed it May 22.

Officials at the Federal Disaster Assistance Administration view the grant program as just one factor in the various forms of aid available to disaster victims.

The assistance administration sets up special centers in disaster areas to receive applications for the grants and various other programs provided by the new law.

Red Cross feels pinch on blood

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The lack of volunteer donors has reduced Red Cross blood supplies this summer, but a commercial center here that pays $10 per pint for blood reports it has all it needs.

Naomi Towers, administrative director of the Central Ohio Red Cross, said the agency is falling behind by about 1,000 pints of whole blood a month due to a "summer slump" in donations.

Pete Ratcliffe, supervisor of Blood Alliance, Inc., a commercial blood bank here, said "we have no slump at all in supply, although we feel a certain slowdown in volunteers during the summer since we're located near Ohio State (University)."

Ratcliffe said Blood Alliance pays $10 per pint "or a year's free coverage of blood supply insurance to donors and their families."

The Central Ohio Red Cross Center borrowed 300 pints of blood from Red Cross centers in neighboring states to keep even with the supply, according to Mrs. Towers.

Warmer weather crept into Ohio today and temperatures Wednesday are expected to climb to near normal.

A high pressure area located over Tennessee early today, is forecast to move east off the East Coast tonight. Meanwhile, a low is developing over the mid-Mississippi Valley.

The low is expected to bring showers to Ohio late Wednesday or on Thursday as it moves eastward.

Highs today were forecast generally in the 70s under partly cloudy skies and lows tonight should dip to the upper 50s or low 60s under generally fair skies.

That compares with readings in the upper 40s and low 50s at dawn today. Zanesville was the cool spot with a 48-degree reading.

Highs tomorrow are expected to reach the upper 70s and low 80s.

A chance of showers Thursday and Friday, decreasing Saturday. Highs in the upper 70s and low 80s. Lows in the upper 50s and the 60s.

Impeachment panel eyes next move

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee has entered the final week of examining evidence in its impeachment inquiry, still undecided about what comes next.

Questions concerning calling of witnesses, President Nixon's defense argument and public release of are being put off until the evidence is all in.

Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr. D-N.J., hopes that will have been gathered by Thursday or Friday and is planning to devote the following week to the unresolved questions.

The committee returns to the Watergate cover-up when it resumes its closed session today, concentrating on the establishment of the special Watergate prosecutor's office.

The committee is pursuing its inquiry in chronological order and the firing of special prosecutor Archibald Cox last Oct. 20 will about wind up the Watergate phase.

All that will be left then is an examination of Nixon's income tax payments for 1969-72, with the emphasis on his deduction of $676,000 for papers given to the United States, and a study of the secret bombing of Cambodia in 1969-70.

Stock prices near even

NEW YORK (AP) — Faint signs of a downturn in some short-term interest rates fed the stock market's current obsession today, bringing prices back from early morning lows.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 0.39 at 833.62. Shortly after opening, the blue-chip indicator was off more than 2 points in a carryover of Monday's 0.86 decline.

Declines beat back advances 2 to 1, however, among 1,456 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading was light.

Brokers say investors remained obsessed with high interest rates and their effect on corporate performance and the economy as a whole. However, they note some optimism: several commercial paper companies, including the Federal National Mortgage Association, announced a reduction in short-term notes.

The American Stock Exchange's market-value index at noon was down .22 at 83.43. The most-active stock was Servotron, steady at 3%.

Albert attacks meat situation

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Speaker Carl Albert today called the situation in the livestock industry an economic debacle and said "the administration gives every evidence that it understands neither the depth nor the meaning of the problem."

"The Congress may well be faced with one of the most serious economic problems since the Depression," Albert, D-Okla., said in opening three days of hearings before the House Agriculture Committee.

Livestock prices have fallen steadily at the farm level for eight months while holding relatively high at the retail level.

Meat producers have complained that they are losing money by selling at current prices.

Commission delays ban on fireworks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans can enjoy the patriotic and deafening boom of firecrackers this Fourth of July after all.

The government just asks that you be careful.

The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission voted 5-0 Monday, just six hours before its midnight firecracker ban was to have taken effect, to grant Chinese and U.S. fireworks firms a public hearing on their objections.

That stays the ban, new safety standards and labeling for other types of fireworks at least 30 days.

"The commission has not made any determination of the merits of the issues raised," a spokesman said. "It has only determined that objections meet the legal test to require a hearing."

Fireworks manufacturers and traders from Taiwan, Macao, Hong Kong and Oklahoma had complained that the proposed federal crackdown might stick them with $50 million worth of newly banned hazardous substances.

They argued in a petition submitted last Friday that the hazard of at least some small firecrackers could be reduced to "acceptable levels," and that certain other legal requirements of the law had not been met in the commission's proposed actions.

City school board handles heavy agenda

A number of matters were discussed at the meeting of the Washington C.H. Board of Education, including personnel matters and expenditures for books, blacktopping of the senior high parking lot and for a new sound system in the junior high auditorium.

The blacktopping of the senior high parking lot was awarded to the L.P. Cavett Co. The firm's estimate of the project cost was $5,395. This estimate is nearly 40 per cent higher than estimates the board received one year ago. The increase was attributed to increased costs of materials.

A new sound system for the middle school auditorium will be purchased. The only estimate of cost was from Boylan and Cannon Electronics at $2,124. This would include an amplifier, two speakers and five microphones.

A total of 510 copies of new books for the middle school will be purchased by the board at a cost of just over $2,500.

The books are for math, typing and home economics.

It was recommended that copies of 17 new books be purchased for Washington Senior High School. However, board members pointed out that funds may not be available for all the proposed books, and the board authorized Superintendent Edwin M. Nestor to purchase whatever portion of the books for which funds were available.

middle school auditorium. C.O. Varney Sr. and other area residents sought to rent the auditorium June 30 for the presentation of country and western shows at 4 and 8 p.m. The Washington C.H. Jaycees sought to rent the facilities for the Second Annual Country and Western Show Aug. 10. Both requests were granted by the board.

A rental request from a group which apparently has no local sponsors was tabled. The board wished to know more of the reason for the request.

Board policy has been to deny renting the school facility to groups which are engaged in a profit-making enterprise who do not have local sponsors.

A request from an area resident that the board remove an oak tree near Cherry Hill which overhangs his garage was discussed. No action was taken.

The board approved a number of fund transfers and requests from faculty members to attend professional meeting and to take continuing education college courses.

A ROUGH draft of the 1974-75 budget was discussed briefly. Further discussion and approval of a final budget are expected at the next board meeting July 15.

A report of the semi-annual inspection by the Fayette County Health Department was discussed. Numerous areas for improvement were cited by the health department, but all seemed to be minor matters, most of which had already been included in the board's schedule of summer maintenance projects.

Springfield man injured as beer truck hits limb

A Springfield man was injured when the Stroh's Beer truck he was driving struck a low hanging tree limb in Bloomingburg.

The Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported David Lee Rhodes, 20, of Springfield, had been driving west on Midland Avenue, 100 feet west of Main Street, when he misjudged the height of the truck and struck the limb with the right corner of the truck bed.

Rhodes was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital and treated for contusions of the left side of the head and abrasions of the lower lip. He was later released.

The truck incurred severe damage from the accident.

A traffic mishap occurred at the intersection of Fayette and Elm streets at 11:35 p.m. Monday, involving a truck driven by Scott L. Tarbutton, 16, of 548 Brentwood Dr., and Floyd D. Stookey, 76, of 1552 Washington Ave., city police reported.

Stookey was cited by city police for failure to yield right of way while making a left turn and moderate damage was incurred by both vehicles.

A hit-skip accident occurred sometime between 12:30 p.m. and 5 p.m. Monday, in a private parking lot at the rear of 132 S. Main St., police reported.

A car owned by Mark F. Newsome, of Chillicothe, incurred moderate damage to the left side and the front of the left door, from the unidentified driver. Police are investigating.

ELEVEN NEW TEACHERS were hired by the board. They were Miss Margaret Emmelhainz, specialist for children with learning disabilities; Kirk Thompson, sixth grade; Mrs. Helen Pommert, reading; Miss Linda Young, business education; Christopher Waldrep, who has a master's degree, senior high art; Miss Karen Gerker, instrumental and vocal music at the middle school; Miss Marilyn Smith, elementary teacher for Eastside; Mrs. Emily King, who has a master's degree, elementary vocal music and senior high choir; Miss Kathryn Sulken, elementary art; Mrs. Carol Hoxie, senior English; and Mrs. Betty Aikens, elementary teacher.

The hiring of these 11 teacher leaves two vacancies in the system still to be filled. One is in the Naval ROTC program, the other for a senior English teacher.

Contracts for three elementary principals were renewed with increases in salary of $800 to $950. They were Robert Angus, Belle Aire; Charles Melton, Rose Avenue; and Mrs. Edna Watts, Cherry Hill. Supplemental contracts for non-classroom services were issued to Charles Shaffer, high school band director, and Victor Pontious, stage and dramatics director.

A number of non-certified personnel were given new or extended contracts, and Gary Shaffer was offered a contract to teach driver's education this summer.

A resignation from Allan Salvador, senior English teacher, was received and accepted by the board.

High court facilities ruling to have little effect in South

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A Supreme Court ruling that segregated private schools no longer can be given exclusive use of public recreation facilities apparently will have little impact in the South, where many whites fled to the suburbs years ago to avoid integration.

Most education officials polled after the ruling said such schools have their own facilities and that public ones are not needed. And some such schools, formed originally as tools of segregation, have now relaxed their policies and claim any child is welcome.

Die-hard segregationists said they didn't need public facilities for their schools and wouldn't use them if they did.

The Supreme Court upheld on Monday a district court ruling banning segregated schools in Montgomery, Ala., from using city football stadiums, baseball diamonds or basketball courts for official games.

But the high court failed to rule on whether the segregated academies could use other public facilities such as zoos, museums and parks and sent that matter back for the district court to decide.

George W. Shannon, editor of the segregationist magazine, "The Citizen," in Jackson, Miss., said the Citizen Council academies have been denied exclusive use of public facilities but that its pupils do make trips to public parks and zoos.

"They can go to parks or the Jackson zoo if they want to," Shannon said. "A representative of the (Ku Klux) Klan or the NAACP can go there."

He said council schools don't want to use public facilities because "we don't want any state aid of any kind."

Private school leaders in Montgomery where the case began in 1958 said the high court's decision now has little meaning because they no longer need to use the public facilities.

In Georgia, all three major private school organizations now claim to have racially open policies and therefore said they cannot be considered "white flight."

Board reviews joint project

The Fayette County Board of Commissioners met jointly with the Green County Board of Commissioners Monday afternoon and received the engineer's report of the Grassy Branch ditch project.

Acting on the petition submitted by Carl Fent, of Green County, the joint committee scheduled a final hearing on the project for 1:30 p.m. Aug. 5 in the county commissioners office in Xenia.

The engineer's report estimates cost of the project at $159,514. It affects some 74 landowners in Jasper and Jefferson townships in Fayette County and two townships in Greene County.

The ditch begins just off Allen Road in Fayette County and terminates on the Rosemoor farm in Greene County. Cost of the project will be shared by residents of the two counties.

Private school leaders in Montgomery where the case began in 1958 said the high court's decision now has little meaning because they no longer need to use the public facilities.

In Georgia, all three major private school organizations now claim to have racially open policies and therefore said they cannot be considered "white flight."

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — More arrests for drunken driving were made last month than in any comparable period, the state Highway Patrol reported today.

"We arrested 2,035 drivers for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of alcohol last month," said Col. Robert M. Chiamonte, patrol superintendent.

"That total represents a 33 per cent increase over the May 1973 figure and is an all time record for the division."

Patrol officers, during the first five months of the year, have arrested more drunken drivers than any other year in the patrol's history, Chiamonte said.

Opinion And Comment

We won at spending

The newly disclosed comparison between American spending in Indochina and that of China and Russia make the vast U.S. outlay even more disturbing than it seemed before this was known. For as Rep. Les Aspin of Wisconsin observed in releasing Defense Intelligence Agency data, "These new figures show that while we were pouring in tens of billions of dollars to prop up a succession of governments in South Vietnam, the Russians and Chinese were spending peanuts."

Comparatively speaking, that is; the estimated 3.65 billion dollars in Russian and Chinese aid to North Vietnam since 1966 is no small amount. It dwindles almost to insignificance, however, when matched against the 107.1 billion which the Pentagon officially reports as the U.S. expenditure during that period.

A big part of the difference is accounted for by the fact that whereas Moscow and Peking provided only aid and technical assistance, the United States had to pay the heavy cost of its own active participation in the war. This boosted our spending to nearly 30 times that of the two big Communist powers. Yet even without this factor, the figures show, in the later war years U.S. aid to allies in Indochina was two to five times that of Russia and China combined.

This elicited from Aspin the following pungent comment: "There was only one superpower that sank billions and billions of dollars into that Vietnam rathole, and that was the United States." More than a year after U.S. forces were pulled out of South Vietnam, our government's spending there continues at a substantial rate. Taken all together, the Vietnam experience demonstrates, as the Wisconsin congressman notes, "that in a very literal sense the U.S. just can't afford to be the world's policeman."

THESE DAYS . . . by John Chamberlain

Surviving the bicentennial

Watergate is hardly supplying a bicentennial atmosphere as 1976 approaches. Nixon, who would like to go out of office with the flags flying and the rhetoric flowing about the greatness of America as it celebrates its 200th anniversary, obviously has no time to think about things the other side of impeachment. But this, far from being an abnormal state of affairs in the public, is just about par for the course.

In a way, our bicentennial atmosphere recalls the headlines of the pre-centennial years of the late Eighteen Sixties and early Seventies. A terse advertisement, offered by the Richmond Corporation of Richmond, Va., as a hopeful reminder that the U.S. can survive any amount of adversity, ticks off our bigger crises, including the flagrant scandals that clouded our centennial preparations.

Let's amplify on the list a bit. In 1868, President Andrew Johnson escaped conviction after impeachment by a single vote. The sour state of Republican politics as Johnson clung to office didn't keep General Grant from winning the White House, in which he survived eight years of scandals that make Nixon's seem picaresque by comparison.

In 1868, Wall Street highlanders tried to corner the gold market, with a pretense of White House complicity. The Credit Mobilier stock distribution scandal, which reached as high as the Vice Presidency, came in 1872; in 1875, President Grant's private secretary, O.E. Babcock, was tried for complicity in the so-called Whiskey Ring thefts; in 1876, graft in the Indian Service was exposed; and in that same year — the year of the centennial — the apparently solid election of a Democrat, Samuel Tilden, to the Presidency was negated by the manipulation of voting totals in Louisiana, Florida and South Carolina, where carpetbaggers from the North controlled the election boards.

THE RICHMOND Corporation's president, Warren Pace, offers his aid in hopes of bolstering "confidence in our economic and political system." I take his list of disasters as testimony to the somewhat different hope that our country will continue to flourish no matter what type of government we have in Washington. I don't expect government to "solve" problems; when the politicians try to "cure" our economic difficulties by invoking purity and creating regulatory boards, we get milk scandals as a matter of course. (If government is going to set the price of milk, the milk producers will quite understandably try to protect themselves by influencing the Political price fixers.)

Mr. Pace doesn't include 1887, the year of the creation of the Interstate Commerce Commission, as a disaster year. But the ICC led to the Penn-Central fiasco — and now, ironically, it is the government that is cutting out excessive trackage, which is what the privately owned railroads wanted to do all along as one of the conditions of survival. Our utilities are over-regulated — and Con Ed in New York State is now gasping for breath. That is the way it will continue to go if political "cures" are pursued.

We survived the scandals of the Gilded Age because people could start enterprises and exploit inventions and otherwise indulge their ingenuity without long waits for Federal permission.

THE U.S. Bicentennial Society of Richmond, Va. (no connection with the Richmond Corporation, which sells financial services), is worried lest our bicentennial should result in a flood of cheap and gaudy beer mugs, ashtrays, T-shirts and balloons, all bedecked with phony patriotic inscriptions.

The chairman of the Bicentennial Society, a private organization, is Virginius Dabney, a Pulitzer Prize winner and former editor of the Richmond Times-Dispatch; another Society trustee is Samuel Eliot Morison, the Harvard historian. I like the idea that it is a private group that has taken it upon itself to associate our bicentennial with the idea of good taste in offering meaningful collectors' items to the public in 1976. The Federal government can't impose good taste on anybody; if it tried, it would be attempting to create a sort of artistic fascism which would only get people's backs up.

Our Founders believe in limited government. All the more reason to let private organizations take charge of the bicentennial, and to hold the big celebrations, not in Washington, D.C., but in Philadelphia, Boston and Richmond.

GOP solon sees Perk doing well

By DEAN W. SCHOTT

Associated Press Writer

BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP) — The chairman of the Republican senatorial campaign says he believes Mayor Ralph J. Perk of Cleveland can recapture the U.S. Senate seat now held by Sen. Howard M. Metzenbaum from the Democrats.

"Obviously the situation is complicated by the fact that William Saxbe left and the incumbent is a Democrat," said Sen. William Brock of Tennessee on a recent trip to Burlington.

"However, we have a first-rate candidate in Perk. I think he can run as strong a race as anyone."

Perk faces former astronaut John Glenn, a Democrat, in the November general election in Ohio. Glenn defeated Metzenbaum last month in the Democratic fight for the party's nomination to a full six-year term.

Gov. John J. Gilligan named Metzenbaum to fill the unexpired term of Saxbe, who left the Senate to become attorney general.

Brock heads a committee that will raise money, plan strategy and campaign for Republicans in this year's Senate elections.

The junior senator from Tennessee said two things hurt Metzenbaum in the May primary.

"I think the tax issue killed Metzenbaum," he said. "And the rather idiotic statement that Glenn never worked hurt him."

Brock referred to the report that Metzenbaum, a Cleveland millionaire, paid no federal income taxes in 1969 and that his statement about Glenn gave the space hero a chance to reply that he had devoted most of his life to the military and to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Even though voters have been rejecting established politicians and electing new faces, Brock says he does not believe two-term Mayor Perk will be affected.

"Even though Perk has been in politics, he has been identified as a completely honest man," Brock said. "He has been frank to the point of his own political disadvantage, and the voters appreciate a man who says what he thinks."

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Poetry is fine,
but its not edible

DEAR ABBY: I dropped out of high school to be married. I am now 30, divorced, and have three children. We are totally dependent on welfare.

If I went to work I could earn $1.90 an hour as a motel maid, but here is my dilemma: I attend (but am not enrolled in) the poetry workshops of two colleges in my city. My teachers say I am very talented, and they urge me to stay with writing poetry. I have been published in some of the best literary magazines in the nation, and have had some very encouraging letters from editors, although they haven't paid me anything. My ambition is to become a major poet.

I have spent two years in therapy, but I can't analyze away my need to write poetry.

Now I must make a choice between my children's physical needs and what my family calls my "selfish ambition." I welcome your advice.

POOR, SCORNED AND TORN
DEAR P., S. AND T.: Since you are able to work I think you should get off welfare. Thus far your poetry has netted you only non-edible letters of encouragement. I advise you to get a paying job, and write poetry in your spare time.

DEAR ABBY: I am interested in the strange case of the woman who went to confession and was upset by the priest who confessed his own troubles to her. Even stranger was your advice that the priest should see a doctor!

So here's the situation: If a woman confesses to a priest, she's religious, but if a priest confesses to a woman, he's sick.

My God, Abby, if that's the best you can do, you should quit. Why didn't you simply advise the poor fellow to go to another priest and confess?

INFIDEL

DEAR INF: The priest didn't merely "confess" to a woman—he broke down and wept—and to a parishioner who had come to HIM to confess (yet. This is healthy!)

True, another priest might have relieved the first priest's guilt by hearing his confession, but only a doctor can diagnose and treat one for an emotional disturbance, which appears to be the case here.

DEAR ABBY: I am a sailor who will be going on leave soon. I expect to be met at the airport by my parents and my girl friend. My problem is I don't know whose arms I should go to first. It will be a year and six months since I have been home.

You always say put your mate above all others because your mate will be your lifelong companion. Well, I am not married yet, but I think my girl friend will expect me to go to her first, and my mother will expect me to go to her first.

I love them both very much and wouldn't want to hurt either one, so whose arms do you recommend?

SAILOR

DEAR SAILOR: Since you aren't married yet, I'd suggest you greet your mother first. But once you take a mate, mate, she comes first.

Wedding takes place in Columbus

Miss Jeannie Bea Stanley became the bride of Timothy Bruce Ladrach in the Boulevard United Presbyterian Church in Columbus. The Rev. E. Bert Bone performed the double-ring candlelight ceremony for the daughter of Mrs. Paul E. Whitehead and Kenneth C. Stanley, both of Columbus, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene C. Ladrach, 619 Warren Ave.

A large vase of white gladioli, daisies, pink carnations and baby's breath with two candles on either side enhanced the altar. Two seven-branch candelabra on either side of the altar were graced with white bows and greenery. Ferns were on either side of the nave. The was lined on both sides with singles brand candelabra with white bows and greenery.

Miss Terry Stoldt, a harpist from Columbus, presented a half-hour of pre-nuptial music, along with Mrs. Julane Johnson, organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of imported white silk organza with high neckline of Venice lace over a sheer yoke with matching lace forming an empire bodice. Lantern sleeves were cuffed with lace and banded with white satin ribbon. An A-lined skirt flowed into an attached waltz train ruffled at the hemline and banded with lace and ribbon. Her veil of two-tiered imported silk illusion was held in place by a matching Venice lace Juliet cap. Her bridal bouquet was made of white daisies, white roses and lily of the valley.

Matron of honor, Mrs. William J. Dovell Jr., sister of the bride of Columbus, wore a yellow floor-length gown of dotted Swiss with ruffled cap sleeve and scoop neck with empire bodice. The back of the gown was cut low with matching bow. The bridesmaids, Miss Cornelia Conrad and Miss Cathy Conrad, both cousins of the groom of St. Clairsville, and Mrs. Kenneth Peck of Columbus, friend of the bride, wore gowns like that of the matron of honor except in turquoise. They all wore matching garden hats with attached ribbon and three fresh daisies on the back.

Their cascade bouquets were made of white daisies, yellow roses, pink miniature carnation, purple statice and baby's breath with long white ribbons attached.

The bride's mother chose a pink crepe gown which was floor-length and V-neckline with long sleeves. The groom's mother wore a mint green formal length gown of antron, which was floor-length sleeveless with a sheer floral jacket with attached beads. Their corsages were of white daisies, pink roses and miniature pink carnations.

Sarah Sidner, cousin of the groom of Delaware, was the flower girl. She wore a turquoise dotted Swiss dress with square neck, ruffled cap sleeves and matching ruffle at the bottom of the dress. She wore a matching brimless garden hat with fresh daisies in the back. She carried a small fireside basket of petals.

David Bentley Dovell of Columbus, nephew of the bride, was the ringbearer.

Samuel N. Ladrach served as best man for his brother, and the groomsmen Larry Hegedus of Galloway, cousin of the groom, Mark O'Flynn and Jim Tatman both of Columbus.

The couple left the ceremony to go to the reception in a 1939 Rolls Royce towncar. Knights of Columbus Hall was the setting for the reception for 180 guests which followed. A buffet dinner was served and everyone danced to the music of the Rick Monroe Orchestra. The bridal bouquet was caught by the groom's cousin, Miss Cathy Conrad, and the bride's garter by Chris Moore, the bride's cousin. The wedding cake consisted of chocolate and white cake with pale yellow icing. A staircase went from the top of the cake to the bottom.

MR. AND MRS. TIMOTHY B. LADRACH

Miss Milstead bride-elect is honored

Miss Milstead opened many lovely gifts, from a lace-covered table centered with fresh roses.

Refreshments of cake, punch, mints and nuts were served to Mrs. John Milstead and Mrs. Allen Lewis, mothers of the betrothed couple, Mrs. Dorothy Bowen and Mrs. Leonard Milstead, grandmothers of the bride-elect, and Mrs. Dennis Garringer, Mrs. Stan Stanley, Miss Susan Milstead, Miss Marcia Seifried, Mrs. Frank Yoakum, Miss Brenda Coe, Mrs. Dennis DeMole, Mrs. Steve Smith, Miss Lee Ann White, Mrs. Paul Gookenbarger, Mrs. Joseph Lanum, Mrs. Mark Lucas and Mrs. Grace Lanum.

HILLSBORO, Ohio (AP) — Melvin Greenberg of Los Angeles, Calif., won a continuance Monday of an extradition hearing, as Virginia authorities worked to return him to face fraud charges.
Greenberg, 52, is to appear Wednesday in Highland County Common Pleas Court.

He was jailed in this community of 5,000 Thursday after allegedly trying to convince city businessmen that he was planning a movie that would star Rock Hudson, Kirk Douglas and Burt Lancaster.

A check with the national crime center revealed he was wanted for grand larceny and cashing bad checks in Virginia, where police said he is wanted in connection with a similar film promotion.

Officials said Greenberg interviewed a number of people in Hillsboro for parts in a film he said would be shot at nearby Rocky Fork State Park.

He allegedly promised roles to persons paying $15 for union initiation fees. He also booked all available motels in the area, police said.

Routine matters handled in Kiwanis Club meeting

Routine business matters were handled during the regular monthly meeting of the Washington C.H. Kiwanis Club's board of directors Monday night in the Lafayette Inn.

Matters discussed included a midjet auto race project. Decision on the project was tabled until questions could be answered concerning the site and a suitable date.

Louie Kuhlwein reported on the need the Community Education program had for funds to operate through June, 1975. He pointed out that the program must be supported by community funds and cited examples of donations given by other service clubs and organizations. Kiwanis Club members agreed unanimously to donate $400 to the program.

Board members also agreed to donate $25 to the Veterans Memorial Fund.

In closing, the club heard a short

Money Does Matter . . .

By Robert E. English

ARE YOU "MATURE", A WOMAN, NEED MONEY?

Are you rejecting the thought of employment, just because you are a woman and you are 45, 55, even older?

Think about this: most women in your age bracket do work.

Employers have been learning, through experience, that there are definite advantages in their employing older women.

"Mature" women have been proven to be more reliable, more faithful in attendance, inclined to be more patient with impatient or inconsiderate customers.

They also have fewer "babysitting" concerns, are possessed of better attitudes, better work habits, and are more likely to hold a specific job or responsibility longer than a younger woman.

If you are "mature", need or want a job, you are likely to get one easier.

The Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D.C. 20402, has some helpful guidelines in "Job Hunting For Mature Women."

Many champions are born and then unmade.

A kid is an athlete. Even the tiniest kid. Maybe he doesn't call his games basketball or football or tennis, but he goes at them hard all day long: running, jumping, climbing, tumbling around.

That's why Converse makes P.F. Flyers. We're an athletic shoe manufacturer and we think a young athlete's first shoe should be as athletic as he is.

We know a kid needs the fit and support and feel of athletic shoes as much as big time athletes do. Maybe even more. That's why he needs P.F.'s by Converse. They have the exclusive Posture Foundation wedge and arch cushion to take all the hours of hard-driving exercise a kid puts in every day.

P.F.'s alone won't make a champion. But they won't unmake one. And that should be important to you.

Get them off on the right shoes.

Opening lead — six of hearts.

First let's imagine you're an average bridge player. Then let's stretch your imagination still further and assume there's a national championship in progress at a nearby emporium, and since you've never seen the experts play, you decide to go there to see for yourself whether these sharks are really as good as they're cracked up to be.

You get there bright and early one day and settle down alongside Chester Sludgebucket (South), an expert who is said to be almost as good as he thinks he is.

On the very first hand he gets to three notrump. Maybe you wouldn't have bid his hand that way, but, when dummy appears, you realize that our hero luckily stumbled into the best contract.

Mr. Sludgebucket ducks two rounds of hearts and wins the third one with the ace. Since that is what you'd have done, you are not particularly impressed. But when he next leads a spade to the king you start to wonder why in the world he did this rather than run his diamonds first.

You get no time to consider the question, because Mr. S. now leads a diamond from dummy and plays low when East follows with the jack! This also proves to be a lucky shot because he winds up making three notrump, whereas he would have gone down had he earlier tried to run the diamonds by leading them from his hand.

When you go home and study the hand, you realize that it was more than just plain luck that induced Mr. S. to choose this method of play, and that maybe he knows a thing or two more about the game than the crowd you play with knows.

It kind of makes you think.

Problems with the Ureter

An X-ray showed that I have a kink in my ureter. Could I have had this for a long time without any symptoms? How serious is it? Can it affect the stomach in any way?

Mrs. P.M.F., Calif.

Dear Mrs. F.:
The ureter is one of two narrow tubes that carries urine from the kidneys to the bladder.

The average length is about 10 inches. Normally, urine flows without any obstruction.

A kink in the ureter simply means that the free flow may be interrupted partially or completely. It is one of a few birth defects which can be present in this anatomical region.

Occasionally, a blood vessel may wind itself around the ureter. This is one of the reasons for such kinking.

If the kinking does not impair the flow of urine and cause back pressure on a kidney, the condition need not be serious.

When complete obstruction occurs, surgery can relieve the condition. Many operations are now performed where ureters are partially replaced with synthetic material implanted in the bladder.

The medical or surgical treatment depends, of course, on the evaluation of each individual case.

You probably were born with this condition. Occasionally, infection or injury can cause it. I see no relationship between this and complaints related to the stomach.

One child after another in our neighborhood has been coming down with impetigo. Can you tell me something about this disease? Is it dangerous?

Mrs. T.H., Maine

Dear Mrs. H.:
Impetigo, technically known as impetigo contagiosa, is a highly contagious skin condition.

It is caused by the staphylococcus or the streptococcus germ. It occurs in infants and young children and is passed from one to another in such places as camps and schools.

Immediate isolation of infected children and strict hygienic measures are the only way to keep this infection from spreading.

It is not a dangerous condition — antibiotics can bring it under control.

Some zoologists place pandas in the bear family; others say they are related to raccoons. National Geographic says Smithsonian Institution scientists believe they belong in a separate family of their own.

In Focus

by
Charlie Pensyl

You've seen lots of slide shows; some good, some bad, many just so-so. There's no reason they couldn't all be good. The one putting together the show can follow a few simple rules and make the show interesting for all. First of all, keep in mind the purpose of the show. Is the show designed to tell friends of our trip to Tokyo, or to show the home handyman how to lay a tile floor? Tell a story or teach a lesson?

Remember to shoot enough slides so that you'll have plenty to choose from. But please, please, don't use all of them! The greatest fault in most slide shows is that it is too long. Be ruthless in cutting the show down to size. The longest shows made by the pros at Eastman Kodak are about 140 slides long (one Carousel tray).

Vary the length of time each slide is on the screen. Don't let the show become monotonous. Pacing the show is most important. And add variety with plenty of close-ups, night shots, maybe maps, or paintings.

Then put it all together with a musical background and you've got a show that will be interesting and instructive.

Next time you see a show made by a pro, check it out for the points above. You can learn much from watching the work of others. Ed Griffin's shows, though designed to instruct rather than to entertain, are always well done. We will be showing his WORLD WITHOUT CANCER show Tuesday, June 25, at 7:30. Ed had done a good job with this show in telling the story of the control of cancer with Laetrile.

Oh, yes, now is the time to think about your photographic entries in the fair. Don't put it off. The time is getting short.

Receiving stolen property charge lodged against boy

A 16-year-old Dayton boy has been charged by the Fayette County Sheriff's Department with receiving stolen property.

The youth was stopped by Deputy Sheriff Charles W. Wise on U.S. 35 near Bush Road, and asked for his driver's license. Wise discovered the boy had two.

A computer check disclosed one license had been stolen from the Ohio Bureau of Motor Vehicles and had been filled out to show the youth's age as 18.

The Sheriff's Department reported the boy had been released to his father pending a hearing in juvenile court.

Sheriff's deputies also reported the theft of 1,400 feet of copper wire, stolen from 11 telegraph poles owned by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Co., 211 W. Paint St.

The theft occurred sometime between June 10 and 10 a.m. Sunday. The value of the wire was estimated at $200 and investigation is continuing.

City police received a larceny report of a solid gold necklace valued at $200 and belonging to Edna Brock, 221 N. Hinde St.

Police stated the necklace had been stolen from a jewelry box at the Brock residence, sometime between February and May, with no sign of forced entry.

An eight year-old S. Hinde Street girl was bitten by a dog on the right ankle while riding her bicycle on South Main Street at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

Myra Dawn Hecker, 832 S. Hinde St., was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital, where she was treated and released.

A Washington C.H. man was found guilty in Municipal Court Monday after he pleaded no contest to two traffic violations filed by city police.

Acting Municipal Judge John P. Case fined Ralph G. Blackwell, 66, of 1115 Leesburg Ave., $200 and sentenced him to a jail term of 30 days on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident. Blackwell was also fined $50 for reckless operation.

Ricky R. Bryan, 18, of 721 Eastern Ave., was fined $50 after he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving with license plates registered to another vehicle. He was cited by city police.

Lawrence A. Snyder, 38, of Kingston, was sentenced after he pleaded guilty to charges of driving while intoxicated and driving while under suspension of his operator's license. He was fined $300 on the first charge and $200 on the latter. The defendant was sentenced to a jail term of 90 days with 60 suspended on each of the charges. The two 30-day terms he was ordered to serve are to run consecutively.

Gary W. VanPelt, 22, Wilmington, was fined $50 for having altered his operator's license. Both Snyder and VanPelt were cited by the Ohio Highway Patrol.

The remaining cases were filed by the Patrol.

County receives local fund money

Fayette County's share in the June distribution of local government fund money will total $12,500, according to State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson.

A total of $6,109,004 will be distributed to Ohio's 88 counties and 335 other cities and villages having local income taxes. The money in the fund is derived monthly by taking 3.5 per cent of state collections of personal, corporation and sales taxes during the preceding month.

Neighboring counties receiving money were Clinton, Madison, Highland, Pickaway, $12,500; and Ross, $23,074.

Village chief in hot water

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Burton Village Council President Charles Pickett is in hot water.

He is to appear in Chardon Municipal Court today on a charge of petty theft.

Last Sunday night, cemetery sexton Richard Hess was walking through the village cemetery behind Pickett's house when he noticed a hose hooked onto the cemetery water tap.

He followed the hose about 200 feet through a garden and up to Pickett's 7,500-gallon swimming pool. Then he called the police.

"The tap was handy, too damned handy. It'll never happen again," Pickett said.

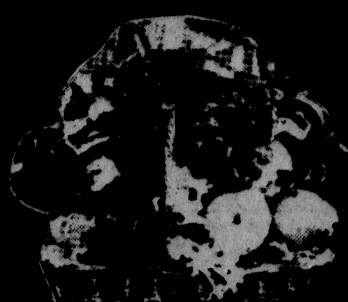

Pickett offered to pay for the water, either $1.60 or $8.50, depending on how the Board of Public Affairs assesses him.

The charges were computed by the village clerk, Pickett's wife, Marilyn.

The Victoria Cross, the highest award for valor given in the British Commonwealth, was established in 1856 by Queen Victoria.
